

I believe that the restrictions on cross ownership of radio, TV, and newspaper outlets are an important part of the democratic process envisioned in the constitution. "An informed electorate" requires information from many different sources. When too many prominent sources of information are driven from a single corporate management, with its private agenda, there is simply too much potential for misinformation, disinformation, factual distortion, suppression of facts, misinterpretation, suppression of certain interpretations, and general lack of a vigorous dialog.

Lifting these restrictions serves only to enhance corporate profits. It does nothing for the citizenry of the U.S.

Retain and enhance restrictions on cross ownership!

Thank you.

Robert Moskowitz